

Appreciation to Reviewers

This year's challenges have underscored for me that an academic journal is truly a community effort. While I was ill with COVID-19, Dr. Ben Druss stepped in to oversee the review of all COVID-19 submissions. Our mission to confront structural racism is guided by the voices and lived experience of readers and contributors. Accordingly, I would like to thank all individuals who found the time to contribute reviews to Psychiatric Services in the past 12 months. I want you all to know that I say thank you each day when I log into the system and see how much time and effort reviewers have contributed. Peer review is at the core of our efforts to attract and publish research, reviews, and columns of the highest quality. Reviewers' reports provide our authors with critical guidance to revise and improve their manuscripts; I rely greatly on peer review to guide my decision making. I take nothing for granted. Every review takes precious time and effort.

I also thank our editorial staff, who participate from beginning to end in the process of manuscript review and final preparation for publication. We are extremely fortunate to have such an outstanding and dedicated staff, with each individual contributing knowledge and skills to the overall process.

Please accept my thanks and best wishes for another year with Psychiatric Services.

—Lisa B. Dixon, M.D., M.P.H., Editor

Note: Because of the copy deadline for the December issue, the reviewers listed below are those who submitted a review between October 1, 2019, and September 30, 2020.
